“Winning these awards says that you are recognised amongst your peers in the media community across Africa,” said Mr. Lawrence Nazare, CEO of Continental Reinsurance Plc, on launching the 8th edition of the pan-African awards.

The awards pay tribute to an industry that has, in countless cases, helped individuals and businesses to recover from injury and loss.

Since its launch in 2015, our involvement with the media community and the awards have recognised the outstanding work of journalists on (re)insurance from across the continent. Watch the 2022 awards ceremony here.

The candidates who can best demonstrate how their articles have advanced the understanding of the (re)insurance sector in Africa will walk away with the knowledge that they are playing a vital part in elevating societies and stimulating progress amongst African communities.
